Exercise 2

I am looking for a job. I have been an electrical engineer for the past eight years. I arrived in the U.S. a few months ago, so I have not had much experience with American job interviews. I don't think my English is a problem because I have studied English since I was a child. In my country, I found a job right after I graduated from college. I stayed at the same job until I came here. The process of finding a job in the U.S. is a bit different. To learn about this process, I have used the Internet. I have also taken a course at a nearby college on how to prepare for an interview. So far, I have had three interviews, but I have not done well on them. I hope that each interview will help me do better on the next one, and soon I hope to find a good job.

A hungry wolf was looking for food when he met a house dog that was passing by. "Cousin," said the dog, "your life is much harder than mine. Why don't you come to work with me and get your food given to you regularly?"

"I would like that," said the wolf. "Do you know where I can find such a job?"

"I will easily arrange that for you," said the dog. "Come with me to my master's house and we will share my work."

So the wolf and the dog went towards the town together. On the way there, the wolf noticed that the hair on a certain part of the dog's neck was very much worn away, so he asked him how that had come about.

"Oh, it is nothing," said the dog. "That is only the place where the collar is put on me every night to keep me chained up. It hurts a bit at first, but you will soon get used to it."

"Then good-bye to you," said the wolf. "I would rather starve than be a fat slave."
